RESOLUTIONS

Relative to the Quota of Philadelphia.

Whereas, A comparison of the official records of the acting Assistant Provost Marshal-General at Philadelphia, with those of the Provost Marshal-General at Washington, shows that the latter has failed to give credit to the first five Congressional Districts of Pennsylvania for 3,679 men, duly enlisted and furnished by those Districts and properly credited by the Provost Marshals of the said District:

And whereas, This discrepancy between the accounts of the officials at Philadelphia and Washington has apparently resulted in an allotment of 2,897 men to the said Districts above and beyond the quotas which can be demanded of them by Act of Congress.

And whereas, The Provost Marshal-General has been unable to give any satisfactory explanation of this discrepancy, while he has persistently refused to allow the accounts to be examined, with a view to trace the cause thereof and to correct any errors which may be found: Therefore,

Resolved, by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, That while we will cheerfully furnish to the Government and to the cause all the troops which we can raise for the defence of the Union, we regard the threatened exaction of these 2,897 men as being without warrant of law or color of justice.

Resolved, That we deeply regret that the City of Philadelphia, which has hitherto borne without a murmur her full share of the burdens and hardships of the war, and which is ready hereafter to make all necessary sacrifices without shrinking, should be forced, by these harsh and arbitrary measures to protest against the injustice which is contemplated.

Resolved, That we call upon our representatives in Congress to protect us from this exaction, and to procure for us either through executive or congressional action, an investigation of the errors which presumably exist in the books of the Provost Marshal General's Bureau.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent, at the earliest possible moment, to each of the members of Congress representing the first five Congressional Districts of Pennsylvania, to the two Senators of the State, to the President of the United States, the Secretary of War, and to the Governor of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That the Committee on the reduction of the quota of Philadelphia, be and is hereby discharged.

RESOLUTIONS

Regarding the death of the President of the United States.

While indulging the pleasing hopes of peace, afforded by the successes of the National arms, the citizens of Philadelphia, in common with their fellow countrymen, have been appalled by the great calamity which, in the death of the President of the United States, has overtaken them. That the Ruler of a Nation, who derived his high office from inheritance or by appointment, and who had used his great trust for the gratification of his passions, should be assassinated by some victim of his power, has not in the history of human affairs been of rare occurrence; but it has been reserved for this age, so proud of its refinement, and its civilization, to furnish the only instance of the murder of an Executive chosen by the unforced suffrages of a free people, and uniting, as did the late President, a meekness of disposition and loveliness of temper that won the affections of all with whom he had to do. The atrocity of such a crime is without a parallel.

As if it were possible to augment the wickedness of his act the assassin followed it by the cry "sic semper tyrannis," of one who is not known to have had a personal enemy in the whole land, who is not charged with having inflicted a single personal wrong, whose conspicuous virtues and proverbial honesty of purpose, were endearing him to every heart, and whose only doubtful virtue was his leniency to his country's foes. The country looks for any wrong inflicted on the murderer by his victim, but looks in vain.

Moved by this visitation of Providence, the Councils of the City of Philadelphia, in making this public expression of the grief which pervades all hearts, recommend to their fellow-citizens a renewed devotion of themselves and their all to the safety and perpetuity of their beloved country; a hearty and generous support to Andrew Johnson, whom God has called to administer the affairs of the Nation; a recollection that the life of its most eminent citizens is not an absolute necessity to the great Republic, which cannot, but by annihilation, die, and it is therefore Resolved, by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, That we bow in submission to the dispensations of an Allwise Creator; that the feeble efforts of human wisdom are valueless to fathom the great designs of God; that faith in His Providence sustains and encourages us to hope and firmly believe His eye is watching, His hand guiding the destinies of our beloved country.

Resolved, That though Abraham Lincoln is dead, the principles, of which he was the honored exponent, still survive him, and that his death will serve to cement us in a more determined and united effort to subdue the rebellion that has cost us so many valuable lives and the expenditure of so much treasure, culminating in the heinous murder of so pure a man and so excellent a Chief Magistrate.

Resolved, That the Mayor, the Members of Councils, the Heads of Departments, the members of the Police force, and all the employees of the City, and the citizens generally,

President of Common Council.
